The cattle on Thrinacia

The crew had sworn not to touch the cattle. After weeks of adverse wind, the remaining men broke the oath while Odysseus slept. The storm that followed destroyed the ship and killed all thirty-one remaining crew.

The ledger counts six hundred losses across the entire voyage; thirty-one of them occurred here.

Related records

- [[oaths/helios]]
- [[knowledge/teiresias-forecast]]
- [[crew/eurylochus]]
- [[crew/manifest-0012]]